Followers of boxing were busy disussing the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries match esterday. Sporting men expressed con-derable satisfaction because the men had ally agreed to fight, but there was a feeling some quarters that there should have been ss gailery talk and a more business-like derstanding from the first. There is a ory going the rounds that Delaney, when came East, succeeded in making the match with Fitzsimmons. According to report it was understood then that there should be a long-winded argument and that more counter propositions to be made men the better. Looking back, one annot help realizing the absurdity of Jeffries's ffer to fight for $50,000 a side and Fitz's bluff in asking Adolph Spreckels, of sugar fame to back him for $25,000. The fact that the fighters have finally signed articles with-out a side bet and almost an even split of the illustrates quite vividly their sincerity when the first began to talk business. In a talk with various pugilistic notables yesterday
THE SUN man found that the consensus of opinion is that Jeffries will win. It is generally set forth that the Champion is too big. too lever, and too invincible in the way of taking ment to be beaten.

It is also pointed out that no fighter has succeeded in getting to the Champion's body with effect and that those who have succeeded in reaching his head have done no harm. Fitzsimmons, and Sharkey, it will be recalled, landed some powerful smashes on the point of Jeffries's jaw, but failed to Both of these men have the repuation of being great punchers. Corbett, comparatively light hitter, put it all over the Champion's head and neck in the ninth round of their memorable encounter, but Jeffries merely laughed. Because of this nenal strength, therefore, it does not seem possible, in the estimation of many experts, that Fitz can do any great amount of harm. But the Cornishman, in giving his views, declares that he will fight Jeffries the next time much differently from the way he handled himself at Coney Island Fitzsimmons has beaten Corbett, Ruhlin, Sharkey and others with his famous left-hand body punch. He has used this blow conjunction with what he calls a "shift and it has never failed to do the trick. Against Jeffries the Cornishman did not try the solar plexus punch at all. For that matter he conhis attack to wild rushes and head swings, which were either blocked off or were eived with the idea of countering with either hand.

Jeffries, it will be remembered, met Fitz's advances with a powerful left-hand jab, which always went straight into Robert's face and at the same time he used his right not only as a clever guard, but also as a means sending in terrific jolts to the body. Pitz had been severely jarred, as well as knocked down, by Jeff's left, the latter brought the right into play for a swing to the jaw, which sent the Cornishman into dreamland. In other words, Jeffries played a clever waiting game, allowed Fitz to do the bulk of the leading, which was wild, and took no chances of receiving a blow that migh carry with it harm. Fitz now believes that he has a chance to win by adopting Jeffries's tactics. He thinks that if he stands away and lets the Champion come to him he will have a royal chance to win in a mix-up. Fitz has won most of his fights, he says, by taking advantage of openings when the other fellow has been laboring under the belief that he was winning. He has also played the part of the fox and thereby has fooled both fighters and spectators. Robert has learned to feign grogginess to perfection and when in that supposed condition he has found the chances to get in the winning blows. For this fight Fitz intends to train harder than ever before. He says that he will get into the ring fit to fight for a king's ransom and that he is confident of reaching the big champion on some vital spot. Jeffries does not hold Fitz cheaply. He admits that the Cornishman is always dangerous and that he will have to train himself with extreme care. Jeffries was undoubtedly afraid to fight Fitz when the latter challenged him just after heating Ruhlin and Sharkey, for the principal reason that the Champion was not in the best physical condition. That was a year and a half ago and the critics were almost unanimous in the belief that had a fight heen arranged at that time Fitz would have oth fighters and spectators. Robert has

Joe Gans, the noted Baltimore lightweight, will meet George McFadden of this city in a sight. There is nearly as much interest in this affair as there was in the Gans-Erne flasco. William Keeler has signed a Brooklyn club contract for the coming season and will captain the team as well as cover right field. Manager Hanlon had a talk with the great player on Friday, with the result that Keeler got into line quite readily. It is not known what salary Keeler will command this year, but the fact that he refused an offer of $5,000 from the Detroit American League club leads to the beilef that the Brooklyn officials consented to pay him a big increase over last year's salary. Keeler is a native of Brooklyn and has a host of friends, who will be glad to learn that he is going to stay. His selection as captain, however, evidently means that Joe Kelley will not be with the Brooklyns another season. Kelley has a standing offer to play with the Baltimore American League Club, but it is understood that he would like to manage and captain the New York club, providing Freedman sells out. Kelley has been Hanlon's right-hand man in Brooklyn and is one of the most valuable players in the profession. He has had the managerial bee for some time past, but if he lands such a position he wants to be the absolute boss.

The New York club, or, rather, the twelfth consecutive manager, Horace Fogel, is still signing players at a great rate. The latest to put his name on a contract is Catcher George Yeager, who was tried and released by both the Boston and Pittsburg clubs. Altogether twenty men have been signed by New York. Rogether twenty men have been signed by New York.

The positive announcement by F. A. Abell, at the Brooklyn club will stand by A. G. alding to the end, and similar statements the owners of the Chicago. Pittsburg didingled by the clubs have nipped in the id an underground scheme hatched by wish, Soden and Freedman to get the rival ctions of the League together in the absence Spaiding. The story has just leaked throm a Boston source. When Freedman sited Soden the other day it was planned the latter to write letters to the "Spaiding ur," asking them to meet the opposition of a conference. Soden was to hold out must of peace, in the shape of a compromise some kind. Then if the Spaiding Four bled at the bait and consented to a meetthe facts were to be handed to the press the facts were to be handed to the press the facts were to be handed to the press the facts were to be facted in the system of the sys sends word from California that there will be no more League meetings until next fail, so that the Freedman faction must either remain solid or break for cover. Spaiding's control of the situation is remarkable and speaks well for the loyalty of the clubs who are with him in what appears to be a fight to a finish.

The meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association this year will attract wide attention. The richness of the stakes alone is a guarantee that they will fill with the best horses in training. NEW IDEA IN ENGLISH ROWING. Oxford Crew Begins Training-Will Use Swivel Rowlock.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Oxford eight has commenced strict training for the 'Varsity race with Cambridge next month. The crew is practising in the Brocas eightoared shell in which the Dark Blue won the race last year. A new Brocas boat is building for the forthcoming race. The new shell will be constructed on similar lines to the one now in use, but with certain modifications.

An important change this year is the use of the new swivel rowlock, invented by W. A. L. Fletcher, who is now coaching the crew. Hitherto English eights have adhered to fixed rowlocks, with a string across the top to prevent the oars slipping out. Fletcher's rowlock differs from the old swivel, which revolved entirely thowl, sill, stepper and all. In Fletcher's the thowl and sill remain in situation throughout the stroke, while the stepper and upper bar, the latter being equivalent in effect to the string of the fixed rowlock, revolve, both being pivoted throughout.

President Graham Appoints the Nev Jersey State Committee.

Lionel H. Graham of the Baltusrol Golf Club, who was elected President of the New Jersey State Golf League at its annual meeting on Thursday, appointed yesterday as the Executive Committee for the year Charles F. Watson, Essex County Country Club; R. Bage Kerr, Golf Club of Lakewood; Paul Wilcox, Montclair Golf Club, and B. F. Rein mund, Englewood Golf Club. The President is also a member of the committee. The selections are of men prominent in golf both as players and interpreters of golfing rules, for all have served before in places of responsibility. Messrs. Wilcox and Reinmund are the retiring President and Secretary of the League; C. F. Watson has been for two years on the Tournament Committee of the M. G. A., and Mr. Kerr's prominence in metropolitan and national golf circles is well known. All have agreed to serve. Through the Secretary, H. H. Spies, Montclair Golf Club, application has been made to the M. G. A. for the dates of June 5, 6 and 7 for the State championship, to be held at Montclair.

The M. G. A. Executive Committee has also been asked for an expression of opinion as to the desirability of the New Jersey Association getting out an official handicap list of its players. President Graham believes that such a list would be of material assistance to the M. G. A. Handicap Committee. All who have heard of the idea deem it a good one for there cannot be too much data collected to aid the handicappers and to supplement the lists prepared by the club secretaries. There is little doubt that the permission will be granted. A Wee Burn player said that he would submit the idea for adoption to the Connecticut Golf League, which is also in afilliation with the M. It is announced by the Green Committee of the Knickerbocker Field Club that it has acquired more ground to take the place of the strip of the links sold recently for building purposes, so that there will be no need to change the location of the course. New bunkers have been put in and the season will be started, weather permitting, by a handicap on Washington's Birthday.

The first match play round for the February cup was played yesterday at the Golf Club of Westchester between the eight who had qualified on Lincoln's Birthday. The course was in very good shape. A. L. Redfield beat A. D. Compton by 6 up and 4 to play, an unexpectedly easy match: George Fox Tiffany beat George W. Fairchild by 1 up. T. C. Trisk beat Dr. W. L. Savage by default, and Dr. M. R. Palmer won by the same concession from C. F. Mathewson. President Wesson has appointed Dr. A. B. Wadsworth and S. A. Geetze to serve with himself as a committee to look up the matter of a new clubhouse on the Watson property, to report on March 13.

Jimmy Handler Proves an Easy Mark for Joe Walcott

Jimmy Handler, the Newark welterweight, proved to be the easiest kind of game for Joe Walcott at Philadelphia on Friday night. The mill was to have been for six rounds, but Walcott only wanted two in which to show the crowd that he is Handler's master Handler from the beginning of the fight Handler from the beginning of the fight never had a look in. In the first round Walcott contented himself by using his left. With this hand he sent Handler to the floor, smashing him in the wind and hooking him on the law. Handler took the count and clinched. They were hugging when the gong sounded. In the second round Walcott changed his tacties and used both hands. He dropped Jimmy twice. Findler, however, ramely found his feet. Findly Walcott rot his man in a rood position and swinging the left, sent Handler to the heards for a knock-out. The round lasted I minute and 56 seconds.

Broad reached Mowatt's jaw and dropped him with a right. Mowatt got up smartly and in the fifth put the Kid to his knees with a jolt under the chin. The sixth round was hot, both doing good work.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 .- A dark, cheerless and very cold afternoon did not cause a de-crease in the attendance at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. The track was in fine shape, as the time in the different events will show. The stake feature of the afternoon was the De Soto Handleap at six furlongs. St. Cuth-bert was made the favorite and played down to 2 to 1. Sevoy, despite the fact that he was carrying top weight, was a heavily played second choice. Tom Kingsley was the only one of the others that was taken seriously, being well played by his owners and their friends. After a ten-minute delay the field was finally sent away with Ranco off in front and the others strung out. Robertson set after Ranco with Sevoy in the first quarter and the pair raced together to the six-furlong pole, when Sevoy dropped back beaten. Odom aboard of St. Cuthbert, who had been lying in third place, moved up and set sail after Ranco. At the eighth pole Ranco began to stop and St. Cuthbert won. If You Dare was second and Ranco secured third money, all out, from Lennep.

The one-mile-and-three-furlong race produced a close finish bet ween Major Mansir El Ghor and Little Elkin. They finished as named. The biggest surprise of the afternoon was the victory of Cast Iron in the closing event. He was at odds of 16 to 1 and won in a hard drive from Garter Ban. Orla took the introductory event in a hard drive from John Grigsby and Lady Alberta by a head. Ogle the odds-on favorite won the second race in a gallop from Man, a 60 to 1 shot. Intrusive, the big Eastern horse, had his colors lowered by Malay in the third. Intrusive was backed down from 6 to 5 to 4 to 5, while Malay was at 6 to 1. It was the hottest finish seen here this winter. Jockay Dade, was suspended to-day because of the improvement that Ogle showed in the second race to-day. Dade rode Ogle on Feb. 12 and the colt ran a very poor race. This led the stewards to suspend the boy pending investigation. Summaries:
